The Home Tract Government Hill

The fastest growing suburb in the southwest. The reason it grows is because it is the ideal place for the man having business in El Paso to get to and fro every day. Five cent trolley will get you to and from business in from 15 to 20 minutes, and all the while your family enjoys the PURE AIR, PURE WATER and the beauties of nature, besides every convenience you get in the city.

Many men are taking advantage of this proposition and are getting a home in GOVERNMENT HILL which appeals to both the business man and working man, as a home can be had there for less payment per month than rent.

NEGRO SHOTS AND KILLS HUSBAND OF SISTER

The Dead Man Was Charged With Killing Fred Jackson, Assailant's Brother.

Madison Graham, the negro who was shot Friday night at 8 o'clock by his brother-in-law, Marshall Jackson, died Saturday morning at Hotel Dieu, where he had been taken for treatment. Graham was released from jail Thursday. The shooting occurred in front of the Jockey Club saloon at the corner of South Oregon and Second streets.

Jackson, who could not be located by the police after the shooting, Friday night, entered an appearance at the police station Saturday morning and surrendered, and also delivered the revolver with which he had done the shooting. He was removed to the county jail and later a complaint charging him with assault with a deadly weapon was filed.

Following the death of Graham, it was announced that Jackson would be given a preliminary hearing Monday morning before Justice McClintock on the charge of murder.

Five shots were fired by Jackson, two of which took effect, one striking Graham in the left arm above the elbow and making a hole through it. The other bullet struck him in the left breast, nine inches below the nipple, passed through the lung and went out through his side nine inches from the point of entrance.

It was reported that Jackson sought revenge because Graham was charged with having killed his brother, Fred Johnson, in the "Sixty Six" bar at the corner of Oregon and Third streets, following a quarrel regarding the way Graham treated his wife, who is Jackson's sister.

Jackson sat in his cell in the city jail. "It ain't true that I shot Graham because he shot my brother. The truth is I was afraid of him and believed him to be a dangerous man on account of the way he killed my brother, Fred. Last night I was on my way home when I saw Graham in front of the Jockey Club saloon looking in through the door. I asked him who he was looking for and he made a motion toward his right hip pocket. I fired and kept on firing. I would not have shot him if he had not made that motion toward his hip pocket. I never had any trouble before and very seldom take a drink, although for two years I was employed as a bartender at the Coney Island saloon."

The weapon used by Jackson was a .44 caliber single action revolver of Mexican make, and according to the police, he used soft nose bullets. Graham was not armed when taken to the police station, where his wounds were dressed by assistant city health officer A. H. Butler before he was sent to the county hospital.

Jackson is at present employed as janitor for the C. & L. building over the Coney Island saloon. During the fiesta last year he conducted a saloon in Juarez. A Mexican was cut to pieces there, several negroes were arrested, and the saloon was closed by the authorities. Graham then conducted one of the games at the fiesta until its close.

COUNCIL HOST TO DELEGATES OF LABOR UNION

Demand Made That City Employ Union Men in Blacksmith Shop.

At a meeting of the city council Saturday morning, a communication from John C. Sanchez, president of the horse-shoers' union, and N. N. Nune, Wm. Galbreath and Henry M. Walker, representing the Central Labor union, was read and referred to the council as a whole.

The communication stated that for sometime past a number of propositions have been made to the city relative to the conduct of the city blacksmithing shop and that while the signers of the communication were not desirous of undertaking to direct the city as to what it should do, or how it should be done, yet they made the proposition that the city employ two skilled mechanics at the shop, one a horseshoer and the other a blacksmith, at a salary of $4 per day, of nine hours, except on Saturday, which is to be eight hours, and that the men be paid time and a half for overtime.

Further they requested that all city employees be American citizens either by birth or naturalization, and that they be qualified voters. The suggestion was made that the city place the men in this department under the supervision of some city official who shall have

How Women and Girls Earn Money

Thousands are Deserving the Old Vocations of Dressmaking, Stenography and Housework for New Profession.

Read Free Coupon for Mrs. Knowles' Book "Lessons by Mail—Beauty Culture."

Abby Beatrice Knowles, the woman who has been instrumental in establishing thousands of women and girls in the new profession of Beauty Culture throughout the United States, Canada and Great Britain, has recently arranged for the free distribution of literature, designed especially for women and girls who would take up Beauty Culture as a profession.

Included with the free literature which is now being sent to all applicants is a beautifully illustrated book, containing nearly 100 life-like illustrations and a photographic reproduction showing the wonderful opportunities for the manicurist, the Hair Dresser and the Masseuse. It describes a wonderfully simple and practical way to learn to become an expert in the various branches of Beauty Culture and shows how a Beauty Parlor can be started at home at very little expense, or how a visiting practice (calling at the homes of select patrons) can be conducted.

Mrs. Knowles declares that there is not another profession for women that offers the opportunities for travel, securing the world for making money, placing women and girls on an independent basis and in refined and pleasant surroundings as does the profession of Beauty Culture.

During a recent tour of the United States and Canada she interviewed many women and girls who held positions as clerks, stenographers, dress-makers and domestic servants, as well as many unemployed, and the intelligence, ambition and desire for advancement shown by these women clearly proved their fitness for this new, dignified and profitable profession.

Arrangements have been made to send the literature and book to all women and girl readers of The Herald. Mrs. Knowles requests that the fathers, mothers and brothers of young ladies assist in drawing attention to this announcement. Only 50,000 copies of the book have been printed. Those who wish a copy should cut out the coupon below at once and mail it to Abby Beatrice Knowles, 2236 Eighth Avenue, New York.

charge of them and if these propositions meet with the approval of the mayor and board of aldermen, that they be put in effect June 1.

Mayor Robinson has left the proposition to the council, but stated that the man employed at the blacksmith shop at the present time is paid $5 per day; that he is a capable workman and that there is not enough work for two men.

The meeting was called Saturday morning for the purpose of placing the ordinance assessing the paving on North Campbell street on its first reading, so that it may be finally adopted next Thursday.

The city engineer was instructed to confer with the street railway company relative to the construction of a culvert at the corner of Arizona and North Campbell streets. The city will put in an ordinary sewer there but if a culvert is desired, the street railway company will be compelled to stand the expense.

Upon motion of alderman Hewitt, the city clerk was instructed to notify Richard Keays that he must cut down his sidewalk on Myrtle avenue near the corner of North Stanton street within 10 days. This walk has been above grade and is in a dangerous condition.

DEMING HAS A SCHOOL DISPLAY

Plan Which Brings Parents and Teachers Together in Harmony.

Deming, N. M., May 21.—The annual school exhibit was held in the school building. It is representative of the work for the entire year of all the grades. This idea was put in execution last year in Deming for the first time, and it is a means at once of informing the parents of what is being done and of awakening in the students pride in their school work. This annual exhibit is the means also of furnishing the school with a permanent exhibit. Each teacher selects the three best pieces of work from her room, and these three pieces of work go into the permanent exhibit.

It is this system as well as the general excellence of the work which enables Deming to capture the prizes at fairs and educational congresses where such work is displayed. It also goes a long way towards solving the problem which vexes the management of public schools everywhere—that of bringing together the management of the school, the teaching force, the children and the parents, and of harmonizing these diverse elements and establishing a better understanding and closer sympathy between them.

These displays bring out the parents, who meet the teachers, discuss school affairs with them, see the work that is being done and accordingly become enthusiastic.

The Deming children served ice cream to their parents during the exhibition.
